

DECIPHERING THE CYPRIOT: How much money do you have and how much land do you own? An insiders assessment of the islands ethos

Like many expats, Demetris Georgiades has an uneasy relationship with Cyprus, but one that is essentially affectionate. In this engaging expose, full of personal anecdotes and frank comments, the writer explores Cypriot mentality, commenting on the nations charms, foibles and obsessions under headings that speak for themselves such as 'I have a relative who can arrange things and 'What village are your parents from? Living in Cyprus might have proved a challenge for Georgiades but it has also been his inspiration... Bestselling author Eve Makis (Eat, Drink and Be Married)
