

Literary Texts from Temple of Nabu Cuneiform Texts from Nimrud 4

The library of Nimrud, probably established in 798 BC, was a prestigious royal foundation whose scribes had contacts all over the East, particularly with Nineveh. The 259 cuneiform tablets and fragments which constituted the library mainly described magical and medical rituals, prayers and instructions for training scribes. All the epigraphic finds from Sir Max Mallowans excavations of 1955-7 are described in this volume, with additional material from the Iraq Archaeological Services excavations of 1985.
