

Paul Kruger;: The life story of the president of the Transvaal

Introductory. The Boer, wrapping his cloak of self-satisfied seclusion about himself, ignorant, prejudiced, stationary, or even retrograde, is an anomaly in this century or in any century of progress. His advocates represent his life as one of idyllic simplicity. He is endowed with patriarchal virtues, a modern Abraham, rich in flocks and herds, and only asking to live in peace beneath his own vine and fig tree. In reality, he has an unfriendly eye for the progress imposed by civilization; he likes to live for himself alone, as far from his neighbors as may be. A variety of taxes and restraints affect him as little as possible. (Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and do not occur in the book.)
