

The tourist in France (Landscape annual)

In presenting a Fifth Volume of the Landscape Annual to the public, the Proprietors feel called upon to express their satisfaction at the patronage they have received for the former part of the work, and to state the grounds on which they look for its continuance. Italy offered a wide field for splendid illustration. Its scenery and its history were alike fruitful in objects delightful to the eye, to the imagination, and to the heart; and, in the treatment of the several divisions of the subject thus presented them, the parties concerned left no means unexplored, and no sources unexplored, through which the true spirit of Italy, and the genius of her landscape, of her antiquities, and her history, could be brought into visible existence. Italy has now been traversed in its length and breadth, from its bosom of sunny beauty to its mountain borders. (Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and do not occur in the book.)
